

F TO HLM

Though most of the letters written to H. L. Mencken by 20th-century authors have been deposited in the New York Public Library, a few items of interest to students of F remain in the H. L. Mencken Room of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore; these, because of the nature of their preservation, are not likely to come to the attention of many until a complete catalog of the collection is issued. F material is as follows: (a) inscribed presentation copies of six of F's books with six tipped-in letters from F; (b) four letters from F of minor biographical interest contained in the scrapbook of Sara Haardt Mencken; and (c) inscriptions in two other books: Men Without Women and Thomas Boyd's Through the Wheat. Of the six tipped-in letters, two relate to Mencken's reviewing of GG, one is a note on F's indebtedness to Conrad, one is a commentary on TITN; the remaining two are of minor interest. None of this material, so far as I can determine, has been published.

NEW F REPRINTS

6 TALES OF THE JAZZ AGE & OTHER STORIES offers a selection of the weaker stories from TJA and ASYM: "Jelly Bean," "Camel's Back," "Benjamin Button," "Tarquin," "Russet Witch," "Lees of Happiness," "Adjuster," "Hot & Cold Blood," "Gretchen's 40 Winks." The idea was to avoid duplication of material already available in Cowley's edition of the stories; but the absence of "Diamond," "Rich Boy," and "Winter Dreams" makes this a poor sampling of F's story output in the 1922-1926 period. An interesting introduction by Frances Fitzgerald Lanahan is included.

The second volume of the BODLEY HEAD F has "My Lost City," "Echoes of the Jazz Age," "Ring," "Early Success," "The Last of the Belles," "Pat Hobby Himself," "An Alcoholic Case," "Financing Finnegan," letters to Frances Scott Fitzgerald, and the original version of TITN. This seems to be the end of the line for Bodley, which is regrettable.

The trend back to the original version of TITN is supported by the SCRIBNER LIBRARY TITN. It is well that college students now have an inexpensive text available, but it is more important that a major American novel is again for sale as the author wrote it. Also in the SCRIBNER LIBRARY is GG, but this is just a new name for the old Student's Edition.

F STUDIES

We were gratified by the number of subscription orders for the FS, but there were no offers of material. The FS is intended, not as a mouthpiece for the editor of the FN, but as an organ for F students. We still want to publish it, and we still await copy.

MUSICAL GG

It has belatedly come to our attention that a musical adaptation of GG was done in Spring 1956 by the Yale Dramat. Book and lyrics were by Aubrey Goodman; music was by Robert Morgan. It was recorded, and the FN is in the position to supply a few copies at $8.

Speaking of Mr. Goodman, his first novel, THE GOLDEN YOUTH OF LEE PRINCE (1959) is reminiscent of GG.

GG SERIAL

Roger Stoddard of the Houghton Library has discovered that GG was serialized after book publication. It ran in 5 parts in FAMOUS STORY MAGAZINE, April-August 1926. The text has the reading orgastic.

INSCRIBED VEG

Goodspeed Catalogue #491 offered a copy of VEG inscribed by F for Ernest Truex on the opening night in Atlantic City: "The best postman in the world." A second copy with the same inscription is in the Barrett Collection at ViU. Some fine F items from the Barrett Collection were included in the 1959 Grolier Club show, "Am. Lit. of the 1920's."

FORTHCOMING

Barnes & Noble have announced a new series for Fall, "American Authors & Critics." The F volume has been given to Milton Stern of U. Conn. MFS has scheduled an all-F number for 1961.

QUOTE

"A few excessively rare but not otherwise over-impressive 'Americana' items have recently been sold at the major New York auction for dazzling thousands of dollars apiece . . . It seems to us that 'Americana' to scale the heights in this manner, should have something more to offer than casual naive realism . . . Does not F write of a very definite America at a very definite period?"

QUERY: L. T. Raymond is interested in locating the last photo of F published during his lifetime—later than the one in the July 1939 MADE-MOISELLE.
